

Intro to U.S. Wine

2.4.1

Fill in the blank.

In the United States, there are less restrictions on what is grown, but stylistically wines tend to be more _____ and _____.

Think about the following and feel free to write a response.

What are the benefits of winemakers having so much flexibility in the United States? What are the downsides?

Cristie Norman's Online Wine Course for Complete Beginners

The Judgement of Paris

2.4.2

Fill in the blank.

Napa was put on the map by winning a competition against Chardonnay from _____ and Cabernet from _____,

arguably the greatest wines in the world.

The winning wines came from _____ and

_____.

Unlike Burgundy, Napa producers use more _____ on their Chardonnay. Both red and white wines tend to be riper and richer than the _____ styles.

Cristie Norman's Online Wine Course for Complete Beginners

Diversity in California

2.4.3

Fill in the blank.

Sonoma makes a number of different wines but is famous for _____ _____ and _____, which has notes of jammy blackberry, vanilla and black pepper.

To the South, _____ is known for making _____ and _____, Rhone varieties.

Think about the following and feel free to write a response.

How might you choose between an Old World wine and New World wine of the same variety?

Cristie Norman's Online Wine Course for Complete Beginners

Oregon and Washington

2.4.4

Fill in the blank.

Oregon is known for _____ and _____ which grows well in the _____. The wines are somewhere between Burgundy and California in taste and aromas.

Washington makes a number of high-quality wines including:

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

Cristie Norman's Online Wine Course for Complete Beginners